

FinAware — Every Request, End to End

Each row is one thing a user does: the screen it starts on, the web-app route that receives it, the service route that does the work, what that service calls next, and the tables it reads or writes.

